Restaurant fire

Two dead

Short circuit suspected, customers run for safety

Mysuru, June 16 (PM&BS)- In a major fire accident at a restaurant in Dattagalli yesterday afternoon, two persons were charred to death, while six others sustained burn injuries and other wounds. The cause of the fire is suspected to be a short circuit.

The deceased have been identified as Saahin (26) of Darjeeling in West Bengal and Prakash (24) of Nepal. Both were working as cooks at 'Maara Restobar,' a rooftop restaurant operating on the first and second floors of the building, which also houses a liquor outlet on the ground floor.

Prakash Saahin

The injured have been identified as Preetham Puneeth, 40, a small-time film actor and owner of the restaurant; Avinash, 25, the General Manager; staff members Mahadev Prasad and Prajwal; and customers Sona, 25, from Mandya and Ramesh, 25, from Bengaluru.

They have been admitted to various hospitals in the city and are stated to be out of danger.

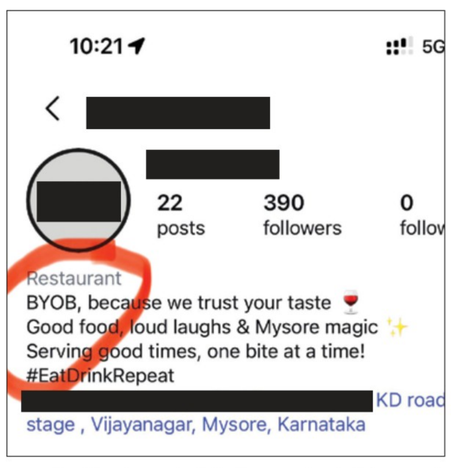
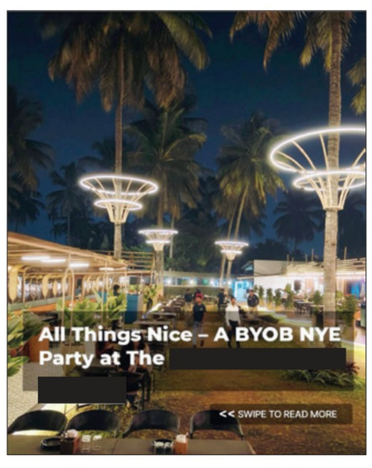
The rise of... BYOB

The illegal 'Bring Your Own Booze' concept is making Officers rich & the Government poor?

Mysuru, June 16 (BLU&BS)- Yesterday's fire incident has exposed the concept of 'Bring Your Own Liquor (BYOL) or Bring Your Own Booze (BYOB),' an illegal act which has been going on unabated at new restaurants in the city, especially along the Outer Ring Road (ORR).

BYOB means a customer can bring his own bottle of alcohol into a restaurant even though that is an illegal act. A restaurant must have a liquor licence to serve alcohol in its premises. But in Mysuru many restaurants have reportedly been paying off the officers, instead of paying the Government a licence fee to serve liquor in their establishment. This has been going on unabated for a few years now.





Running without licence, clarifies Minister

This morning when Star of Mysore (SOM) reporter questioned and informed the Urban Development Minister Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah about the rise of BYOB in Mysuru, Dr. Yathindra said, he would take action soon.

Reacting to another query by SOM reporter, who brought to the Minister's notice about the liquor shop beneath the restaurant which was sending alcohol to the restaurant upstairs which did not have a CL-2 licence to serve or sell alcohol, Dr. Yathindra surprisingly informed the press gathered there that according to the information he had collected from the Deputy Commissioner and City Police Commissioner, even the liquor shop that was sending alcohol upstairs did not have a licence to operate!

Excise DC lies

Interestingly, prior to the Minister's visit, when SOM spoke to Excise Deputy Commissioner of Mysuru, Nagarajappa, he had shared some facts, which later turned out to be false. The Excise DC had lied that the liquor shop had CL-9 licence.

Excise Deputy Commissioner Nagarajappa had said, CL-9 licence had been granted to the liquor outlet in the building, but the roof top restaurant was serving liquor, without obtaining any requisite licence.

He even told Star of Mysore reporter that the Excise Department officials recently visited the restaurant and upon finding that liquor was being served, the owner was fined Rs. 3000. But liquor continued to be served there long after the fine.

RURU AND THE SNAKE: Sage Brighu's wife Puloma was kidnapped by a demon when she was pregnant. She gave birth to a son, as she was being carried away. The infant killed the demon as soon as it was born. That child was named Chyavana. Chyavana married Sukanya and they had a son called Pramati. Pramati's son Ruru became engaged to Pramadvara. One day, Pramadvara died due to snake bite. Indra told Ruru that she would come back to life, if Ruru gave half his own lifespan to the girl. Ruru gave half his lifespan to her, said Thenthirupperai Aravindalochanan in a discourse.

When Pramadvara was revived, Ruru married her. From then on, Ruru had a hatred for snakes. He decided that whenever he saw a snake, he would kill it. Once when Ruru was bathing in the river, he saw a harmless water snake and was about to kill it, when the snake said, "Why do you want to kill me? I have not harmed you." Ruru narrated how his wife had once been bitten by a snake. The water snake said, "Death of a person comes because of his or her actions. You can't blame the snake. Moreover, why should you kill all snakes, when it was only one snake that bit her?" Ruru agreed to spare the snake's life, but wanted to know what it had done in its previous birth to be a snake now. The snake said, "In my previous birth, I was a rishi called Sahasrapathi. I tied some darbha grass to a stick, to make it resemble a snake. I threw it in the path of sage Khagama, just to frighten him. He fainted when he saw the snake, but when he realised it was a prank, he cursed me. He said I would be born a snake, but because I had only used a stick to frighten him, I would be a non-venomous snake. He said that when I saw Ruru, the descendant of Chyavana, I would be released from my curse. Now I have seen you and so my curse has ended." —In The Hindu

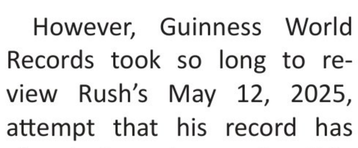
Juggles flaming torches for over 6 minutes



Boise: The man who holds the most concurrent Guinness World Records titles put his focus to the test by juggling three flaming torches for 6 minutes and 25.49 seconds.

David Rush, who holds multiple records in juggling categories, attempted the Guinness World Record for the longest duration juggling three flaming torches at the end of his son's soccer practice at Hobble Creek Park in Boise.

Rush ended up taking the title with a time of 6 minutes and 25.49 seconds, besting the previous record of 5 minutes and 2.31 seconds.

However, Guinness World Records took so long to review Rush's May 12, 2025, attempt that his record has already been beaten by Ohio man Arnav Rathi, who juggled his torches for 7 minutes and 20.77 seconds.

Man solves Rubik's cubes while skydiving

California: A Rubik's cube enthusiast solved two of the puzzles in mid-air during his first-ever day of skydiving to break a Guinness World Record.

Ishaan Hadkar, 24, who has been solving puzzle cubes since he was 10 years old, went skydiving for the first time over Oceanside, California, to attempt the Guinness World Record for the most rotating puzzle cubes solved in a single skydive.

Hadker's first attempt, which was also his first-ever jump from a plane, ended prematurely. But he managed to solve two cubes before landing on the ground from 13,000 feet to successfully take the record on his second attempt.

"It was definitely challenging, especially with no prior skydiving experience. The weather was windy and cloudy that day, and on top of that, you're dealing with speeds of around 120 mph during free-fall," he said.

Children in uniform at city bars! Officials, wake up

Sir,

The fire that broke out at a popular pub yesterday has raised concerns about safety standards and disregard for rules and regulations. This incident also brings forth another issue: Students' safety.

In recent times, it is very common, especially in the afternoons, to see groups of school students, still in their uniforms, sitting inside bars and restaurants where they are seen openly consuming alcohol and smoking cigarettes.

What is even more alarming is that cigarettes are listed on the menu and there is no effort by the staff of establishments to verify the age of those being served.

These incidents point to a deeper issue in Mysuru's evolving drinking culture. While I am not against adults enjoying a night out, I have serious concerns about the safety of our children who are being allowed to consume alcohol and tobacco illegally.

We must ask: Where is the responsibility? Where is the system ensuring that these businesses protect our children?

Why is all this happening in the first place? Is it the influence of social media? Is it that today's parents are giving too much freedom, with little guidance on boundaries?

Or is it that this younger generation, Gen Z, is struggling to grasp the real meaning of freedom, thinking it means no limits, rather than responsibility?

Whatever the cause, it is clear we need to pause and rethink how we guide and protect our youth in this changing world where bars and restaurants do not care for 'age check' before serving children.

It is time for the city and its authorities to step up. We need stronger age checks, clear accountability and a renewed focus on the safety and well-being of our future generations.

If we don't act now, we risk letting a dangerous culture take root. Especially at a time when every other day we hear news of ganja and chemical drugs being seized in the city.

In six months...

225 persons go missing from Mysuru city; 165 traced

Parental pressure, exam stress, family disputes force many to leave home

Mysuru, June 16 (GA&BCT)- Mysuru City Police have registered 225 missing persons cases in the past six months, with investigations showing that many of the disappearances were linked to issues such as parental pressure, domestic disputes and online relationships.

Police officials said that the cases involve men, women and minors leaving home for a variety of reasons. Of the 225 persons reported missing, 165 have been traced so far.

Complaints received at Police Stations reveal a wide range of circumstances. From a daughter leaving for college and failing to return home, to a child going out to play and not coming back. In several cases, Police found that the individuals had left home following disagreements with family members or due to personal frustrations.

Academic pressure

A significant number of cases involve adolescents. Parents often report that their children left for school or college but did not return. Investigations have shown that academic pressure and strict parental expectations were among the factors that prompted some minors to leave home.

By tracking their movements and speaking to friends and acquaintances, Police have been able to trace several of them within 24 hours.

Online factor

Police said that online interactions have also figured in many cases. Relationships developed through social media and other digital platforms have sometimes led to misunderstandings, disputes or instances of deception, resulting in youngsters leaving home.

Investigators use call detail records and other leads to trace such individuals, some of whom later return home voluntarily.

Domestic disputes

Domestic disputes continue to be another major reason behind missing persons complaints. Police said that arguments between spouses or family members occasionally result in one person leaving home without informing relatives. Investigators examine previous instances of leaving home, likely places of stay and other personal details while tracking such cases.

In the past six months, the City Police have registered 225 missing persons cases, of which 165 have been traced, while investigations are continuing in the remaining cases.

Cases involving minors

Of the 46 cases involving minors, seven children have been traced and other cases remain under investigation. Among 32 adolescent girls reported missing, 20 have been found, while 12 cases are still being probed.

Adults accounted for 179 cases including 92 women. Of the 92 women, 72 have been traced and 20 cases remain under investigation. Of the 87 men reported missing, 66 have been traced, while inquiries are continuing in 21 cases.

Dr. Harsha Priyamvada

Deputy Commissioner of Police (DCP - Law and Order) Dr. Harsha Priyamvada said that missing persons complaints are treated with priority. "We take up missing complaints immediately and have achieved a high success rate in tracing those reported missing," she said.

She said most of the cases stemmed from personal, family or relationship issues rather than serious criminal circumstances and stressed the need for greater awareness and communication within families to prevent such incidents.

Beware of 'cash for UPI payment' scam in city

Mysuru, June 16 (GA&KS)- 'Cash for UPI payment,' involving fraudsters targeting individuals or merchants by exploiting digital payment with the victim giving cash and getting scammed, is active in city.

Here fraudsters approach unsuspecting individuals and tell them that they need cash & they would transfer money through UPI payment apps. Once the cash is given to the fraudsters, they show a fake SMS or a manipulated transaction screenshot, thus cheating the people.

In separate cases, fraudsters have cheated individuals to the tune of Rs. 30,000 in similar manner and cases have been registered at NR Police Station in city.

In the first case, an engineer from N.R. Mohalla, who visited HDFC Bank cash deposit kiosk on Shivaji Road at about 10.20 pm on June 8, was approached by a stranger, who asked the engineer if he had come to deposit cash. When the engineer replied that he had come to deposit Rs. 10,000 to his brother's account, the stranger told him to give him the cash and he would make a UPI payment to him. Believing the stranger, the engineer gave him the cash and the stranger, who claimed that he had transferred the money through PhonePe app, showed him the transaction history and went away.

As his bank account did not show the money being credited till June 13, the engineer lodged a complaint with NR Police.

In the second case, a businessman went to SBI cash deposit kiosk at S.S. Nagar in Bannimantap at about 9.30 pm on June 12 to deposit Rs. 20,000 to his bank account.

When he was about to enter the kiosk, two youth, who came on a bike, asked him if he had come to deposit cash. When the businessman replied positively, the youths told him that they needed cash and they would make UPI payment to his account.

When the businessman gave them the cash, one of the youths, who pretended to transfer the money, showed the businessman a fake UPI transaction history and sped away on the bike.

When the businessman's bank account did not show any money being deposited to his account, he realised that he has been cheated and lodged a complaint at NR Police Station.

Grabbing Govt. land with fake documents case

Court rejects application of plaintiff who claimed the land as his

Mysuru, June 16 (MK&KS)- An application, moved by a man to claim a Government land as his by allegedly creating fake documents, has been rejected by the Court. The Court has ordered that the land in question should not be sold or transferred to private individuals.

The man, whose application has been rejected by the Court, is L.N. Govindaswamy of Nachanahalli Palya in J.P. Nagar and the land in question is a 13-acre land located in Dattagalli Survey Numbers 82, 52 and 61.

Questioning the Single Judge Bench's order, Govindaswamy had moved an application to a Divisional Bench against the State Government and the Mysuru Development Authority (MDA) — earlier Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA).

Judges D.K. Singh and T.M. Nadaf, who took up the case, ordered that the land in question cannot be sold or transferred to private individuals.

According to 1970-71 RTC information, 1-acre-and-34-gunta land is in Dattagalli Survey No. 52, 1-acre-and-35-gunta land is B. Kharab land in Survey No. 61 and 161-acre-and-10 gunta land is in Survey No. 82 is mentioned as a lake land.

But in 1980, fake documents were created in the name of Shergar Lakshma Bhovi (said to be the grandfather of Govindaswamy), the order has mentioned.

Later, on August 5, 1989, the then Assistant Commissioner cancelled the illegal area of Shergar Lakshma Bhovi.

In the meantime, the MDA had utilised a part of the 13-acre land in question for development and had deposited Rs. 52 lakh in the name of the Court to be given as compensation.

Govindaswamy, urging for adequate compensation, had moved an application to the Court and the Judges, who took up the case, heard the arguments from both sides, went through the documents and rejected Govindaswamy's application. On June 4, the Court rejected the appeal and ordered that the public land cannot be alienated to private ownership.

Historic temple re-emerges after 3 years at KRS Dam

Srirangapatna, June 16 (VK& BCT)- The historic Sri Lakshminarayanaswamy Temple has re-emerged from the backwaters of the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) reservoir after remaining submerged for nearly three years, drawing visitors from across Karnataka and outside eager to witness the rare phenomenon.

While the temple's reappearance has generated excitement among tourists and photographers, the sharply declining water level in the reservoir has become a matter of concern for farmers.

According to official data recorded at 8 am on June 16, the water level in the KRS Dam stood at 81.35 ft against its maximum level of 124.80 feet. Of the reservoir's full storage capacity of 49.452 tmcft (thousand million cubic feet), only 11.394 tmcft remains, while live storage has dropped to just 3.015 tmcft.

The reservoir is receiving an inflow of 581 cusecs, while outflows for irrigation and drinking water supply total 436 cusecs. Farmers fear that a delay or deficit in monsoon rains could lead to a serious water shortage in the coming weeks.

The resurfaced temple has quickly become a major attraction, with hundreds of visitors arriving daily.

The picturesque setting has made it a popular venue for pre-wedding photo shoots, Bharatanatyam video recordings, short-film shoots and social media content creation. Tourist footfall has increased significantly, particularly on weekends.

Environmental concerns

The growing number of visitors, however, has raised environmental concerns. Plastic bottles, food packets, disposable plates and other waste have begun to accumulate around the Dam site, diminishing its scenic appeal. Residents also allege that some visitors gather in the evenings for drinking sessions, leaving behind liquor bottles and litter.

Families visiting the temple have expressed concern over the deteriorating conditions, while locals say the sanctity of the historic site is being compromised.

Residents have urged the Police and district administration to step in with regular patrols, warning signboards and proper waste-management measures to ensure cleanliness, visitor safety and the protection of the heritage structure.

For farmers, the temple's reappearance is not merely a tourist attraction but a stark reminder of the reservoir's dwindling water levels. With irrigation and crop cycles dependent on KRS, many fear that unless substantial rainfall is received soon, the region could face drought-like conditions.

As one farmer remarked, "The temple's return may delight tourists, but for us it is a warning that the reservoir is running dry."

Ancient temples surface as Kabini Dam level recedes

Mysuru, June 16 (BCT)- The receding waters of the Kabini reservoir have once again brought to the surface remnants of ancient temples and cultural heritage sites that have remained submerged for decades.

With water levels dropping sharply, stone structures, temple ruins and sculptures have emerged from the backwaters, offering a rare glimpse into the region's forgotten past.

Among the remains now visible are weathered inscriptions, idols of Basavanna, Lingas and Vinayaka, along with traces of shrines and intricate carvings linked to the erstwhile Beechanahalli village, which was submerged following the construction of the Kabini Dam.

One of the most prominent structures to reappear is the shrine of Mankalamma Devi. Also drawing attention is the Sapthamatrika temple, which once housed idols of Ganapathi and Bhairava and features seven thrones carved in the form of seven-headed serpents.

Nearby stands the Bhavani Shankara temple in the erstwhile settlement of Keertipura. Built under royal patronage, the temple contains relics including Ishwara Lingas, Basava idols and serpent deities, now visible once again as the reservoir waters recede.

The reservoir is also associated with Mastigudi village, one of the largest settlements submerged during the dam project. Every summer, when water levels fall, parts of the submerged temples and structures around Mastigudi re-emerge, attracting pilgrims, history enthusiasts and tourists.

Tackling water crisis: GTD orders swift action

Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda presiding over a joint progress review meeting of officials from MCC, Hootagalli CMC and Town Panchayats in Sharadadevinagar yesterday.

Mysuru, June 16 (DM)- MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD) has directed officials to supply drinking water through tankers to areas in Chamundeshwari Constituency facing acute water shortage.

He was speaking after chairing a joint progress review meeting of officials from Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), Hootagalli City Municipal Council (CMC) and Town Panchayats of Bogadi, Srirampura, Rammanahalli and Kadakola at MCC Zone-3 Office in Sharadadevinagar yesterday.

Dry borewells

Stating that most borewells in Hootagalli, Koorgalli and Belawadi have dried up, GTD said that although water is being supplied from Kabini and KRS reservoirs, several localities continue to face shortages.

"Residents are raising complaints almost every other day. Immediate measures should be taken to supply water through tankers," he said, directing officials to invite tenders without delay for deploying more tankers.

He said the Rs. 355-crore Hale Unduwadi drinking water project is nearing completion. Until the project is commissioned, officials should prioritise water supply to affected areas and devise effective water management strategies, he added.

GTD also instructed officials to prepare and submit a proposal to secure grants under Centre's Urban Challenge Fund (UCF).

Fund release

During the meeting, he telephoned Deputy Commissioner G. Lakshmikanth Reddy and sought immediate release of funds to address drinking water crisis in parts of the Constituency, which has been aggravated by delayed monsoon rains.

KUWSSB Executive Engineer Iqbal Asif informed the meeting that three high-capacity 600 HP motor pumps are being procured from Pune-based Kirloskar Electric Company to improve water supply in Vijayanagar, Belawadi and Koorgalli. The pumps will be installed shortly, with the entire cost being borne by the Hootagalli CMC, he said.

Officials also brought to the MLA's notice that contractors awarded roadwork tenders are reluctant to begin work due to the sharp rise in bitumen prices triggered by the ongoing conflict in West Asia.

Responding to the issue, GTD directed officials to convene a meeting with the contractors and hold discussions to find a solution.

MCC Executive Engineer Srinivas, MCC Zone-3 Assistant Commissioner Sandeep, Development Officer Yoganand, Hootagalli CMC Commissioner B.N. Chandrashekar, AEE Madhu, Town Panchayat Chief Executive Officers Sujay, Mahesh, H.R. Deepa and A.M. Sridhar, among others, were present.

UD Minister visits K.R. Hospital mortuary, consoles family members of deceased

Urban Development Minister Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah consoling the family members of Saahin outside K.R. Hospital mortuary in the city this morning as MLA K. Harishgowda and MMC&RI Dean and Director Dr. K.R. Dakshayani look on.

Mysuru, June 16 (BLU&BS)- Action appears imminent against officials following yesterday's fire mishap at a restaurant in Dattagalli, in which two persons were killed and six others injured, with Urban Development Minister Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah recommending the suspension of the Deputy Commissioner of Excise, Mysuru district.

Dr Yathindra Siddaramaiah chaired a meeting of officials at the Government Guest House soon after arriving in the city this morning. He later spoke to reporters. Incidentally, this was his maiden visit to Mysuru after being inducted into the Cabinet of Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar recently.

The meeting was attended by Deputy Commissioner G. Lakshmikanth Reddy, Southern Range IGP Dr. M.B. Boralingaiah, City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar, Superintendent of Police Mallikarjun Baladandi and Mysuru City Corporation Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif.

Responding to queries, particularly on whether officials would be held accountable whenever such tragedies occur, Dr. Yathindra said he had already recommended the suspension of the Excise Deputy Commissioner. He stated that liquor was being served at the restaurant without the necessary licence. He further said that action would also be taken against the restaurant owner for violating the prescribed norms.

Laxity by Excise officials

Acknowledging that several pubs, bars and restaurants have come up along the Outer Ring Road and in other parts of the city, some of them allegedly promoting the "Bring Your Own Liquor/Booze" (BYOL/BYOB) concept, Dr. Yathindra said he too had received complaints regarding such establishments.

He said that the Excise Deputy Commissioner had failed to act on these complaints.

Excise and Police officials must regularly inspect bars, restaurants and hotels serving liquor to ensure compliance with licence conditions. The officials have been directed to review fire safety measures in commercial buildings across the city. Any violations should be dealt with action, he added.

Family awaits return of victim's body to Darjeeling

Mysuru, June 16 (GA&BS)- Urban Development Minister Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah visited the mortuary at K.R. Hospital on Irwin Road this morning and consoled the family members of one of the two persons who lost their lives in the fire accident at a restaurant in Dattagalli.

Dr. Yathindra met the family members of Saahin, including his elder sister Anamika, brother Sonam Roy and wife, who had arrived in Mysuru from Bengaluru yesterday. They were waiting to receive his body after the post-mortem examination.

According to Saahin's grief-stricken family members, he had been working at the restaurant for the past seven months.

They said his mortal remains would be taken by ambulance to Bengaluru today and kept in a freezer facility at the airport. The body is scheduled to be flown to Bagdogra Airport in West Bengal tomorrow morning. From there, it will be transported by road to his native place in Darjeeling. Meanwhile, family members of the other deceased, Prakash, who are settled in Chandigarh, are expected to arrive today. According to a colleague of the deceased present at the mortuary, all expenses related to their treatment and transporting the bodies of the two victims are being borne by the restaurant management.

'Son should recover'

Dr. Yathindra also visited Avinash, the restaurant manager who is undergoing treatment at JSS Hospital on M.G. Road, and enquired about his health. He also interacted with Avinash's family members at the hospital.

An emotional Dakshayini, Avinash's mother, told the Minister: "We do not want any assistance from the Government. We only want my son to recover soon."

RSS must register, disclose finances, says Dr. Yathindra

Mysuru, June 16 (BLU&TRR)- Urban Development Minister Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah criticised the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) for not registering itself as an organisation.

Speaking to reporters in Mysuru this morning, Dr. Yathindra questioned the RSS's stand on registration.

"The RSS claims it is a Hindutva organisation and therefore does not need to be registered. It also describes itself as a cultural organisation. However, RSS is not a cultural organisation but a political outfit. Why should it not be registered? What is it afraid of and what is it trying to hide?" he asked. "If RSS is registered, it will have to make its financial transactions public. That is why it is not willing to register," he claimed.

Is Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah Mysuru's new... District Minister?

Minister Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah chairing a meeting of officials at Government Guest House in city this morning.

Mysuru, June 16 (BCT)- Is MLC Dr. Yathindra Siddaramaiah, son of former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and now Urban Development Minister in the D.K. Shivakumar Cabinet, the new Mysuru District In-Charge Minister?

Such speculation is gaining traction in political circles following Dr. Yathindra's first visit to Mysuru this morning after assuming ministerial office. Observers point to his high-profile engagements and interactions with senior district officials as indicators of his growing influence in the region.

Soon after arriving in Mysuru, Dr. Yathindra chaired a high-level review meeting attended by DC G. Lakshmikanth Reddy, Southern Range IGP Dr. M.B. Boralingaiah, City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar, SP Mallikarjun Baladandi, MCC Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif and other senior officers.

Following the meeting, the Minister visited JSS Hospital, where he met victims injured in yesterday's pub fire incident. He interacted with Avinash and other patients undergoing treatment in the burns unit and enquired about their health condition.

Speaking to reporters later, Dr. Yathindra said strict action would be taken against officials found responsible for lapses that contributed to the tragedy, which claimed two lives. He confirmed that the government has recommended the suspension of Excise Deputy Commissioner Nagrajappa and that a formal complaint has been filed against the pub owner. He assured that all those responsible would face legal action.

Political observers note that former Social Welfare Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, a senior Congress leader and MLA from T. Narasipur, who had earlier served as Mysuru District Minister, did not find a place in the D.K. Shivakumar Cabinet.

Against this backdrop, Dr. Yathindra's active role in reviewing district administration and responding to major incidents has led to speculation that he may effectively be assuming responsibilities traditionally associated with a District Minister, although no official announcement has been made in this regard.

Dr. Yathindra had vacated the Varuna Assembly Constituency ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections to enable his father Siddaramaiah to contest from the seat. Siddaramaiah went on to win and subsequently became Chief Minister for a second term.

Dr. Yathindra was later nominated to the Legislative Council and has now been elevated to the Cabinet as Urban Development Minister. His growing prominence within the Government and his visible engagement with Mysuru affairs have prompted political observers to speculate that he could emerge as Mysuru's principal political authority.

Restaurant fire: Two dead

AFTER: The gutted premises of 'Maara Restobar.'

Preliminary inquiry

According to a preliminary inquiry, the incident occurred at around 3 pm when ornamental LED lights installed inside the restaurant triggered a short circuit, producing sparks. Except for the aluminium handles of the sofas, the cushions and other interior furnishings in the dining area were gutted in the fire.

Customers run for safety

As the fire engulfed the premises within minutes, most of the nearly 25 customers present at the restaurant rushed towards the common entry and exit points in a bid to save their lives.

Around 15 customers reportedly attempted to escape through the windows as members of the public spread a shamiyana cloth brought from a nearby shamiyana shop to help them land safely.

However, fearing the height, the customers refrained from jumping and remained trapped until personnel from the Fire and Emergency Services Department rescued them, eyewitnesses said.

The rooftop restaurant had been designed in a Western-style theme, with nearly 80 percent of the ceiling covered with hay supported by bamboo poles.

These combustible materials are believed to have contributed to the rapid spread of the fire, as flames shot out of the restaurant while anxious passersby watched from below.

Eyewitness account

According to restaurant Floor Manager Prasad, sparks were noticed at around 3.15 pm and attempts were made to douse them by pouring water. However, the fire spread rapidly and engulfed the premises.

While nearly 20 customers were safely escorted out, some rushed towards the rear side of the restaurant and became trapped as the blaze intensified.

General Manager Avinash sustained injuries to his head and other parts of the body, while owner Puneeth suffered burns on both hands and his chest. Both are undergoing treatment at a hospital, Prasad said.

Kitchen staff member Anilkumar said, "I was in the kitchen when the incident occurred. I ran out in panic and saw flames spreading rapidly. Customers were asked to evacuate immediately. The fire extinguishers installed in the dining area proved ineffective. As the blaze intensified, burning debris started falling below, hampering efforts to bring the fire under control."

Fire disrupts gathering

A customer who suffered minor burns in the incident said, "The restaurant had good food offers and I had heard positive reviews about the dishes served here. Everything was going fine until the fire mishap disrupted the gathering."

Regional Fire Officer (RFO) C.R. Ranganath supervised the rescue operations. Five fire tenders and around 35 personnel were pressed into service, including District Fire Officers K.C. Ramesh, K.P. Gururaj, K.G. Rajesh and Sandeep Barasagi, and Fire Station Officers M.S. Nijaguna and Lakshmikanth Yadav.

Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda, Deputy Commissioner G. Lakshmikanth Reddy, DCP (Law and Order) Dr. Harsha Priyamvada, DCP (Crime and Traffic) K.S. Sundar Raj, Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif and other officials visited the spot.

The menace

In recent times, as liquor licence becomes expensive and scarce, many people have been converting old farms into open bar and restaurants without licence.

The trend started along the Ring Road and then moved into surroundings of Vijayanagar and V.V. Mohalla. Now, it has even made inroad into main roads like Kalidasa Road and M.G. Road in the heart of the city.

Ad on social media

In an audacious act, these bars even openly advertise their BYOB concept on social media, when in fact advertising for alcohol itself is illegal. It is a surprise that when everyone can see this BYOB advertisement, the Excise Department is blind!

It seems, the only conclusion one can draw from this is that what should go to the Government in the form of taxes is going into the pockets of officers in the form of bribe.

Shilpa Nanjappa bags Ustad Bismillah Khan Yuva Puraskar

Mysuru, June 16 (BCT)- Acclaimed Bharatanatyam artiste from Kodagu, Mukkatira Shilpa Nanjappa, has been selected for the prestigious Ustad Bismillah Khan Yuva Puraskar for 2024 by the Sangeet Natak Akademi (SNA) under the category 'Overall Contribution and Scholarship in the Performing Arts.'

The award is India's highest honour for performing artistes under the age of 40. Shilpa is the first person from Kodagu and the first Kodavathi to receive the coveted recognition.

Candidates are nominated by eminent artistes and previous SNA awardees and are evaluated on the strength of their body of work and contributions to the performing arts.

In the 'Overall Contribution and Scholarship' category, artistes are expected to demonstrate not only excellence in performance but also significant contributions through research, teaching, curation and allied activities.

In Shilpa's case, the award recognises more than a decade of work in documenting, preserving and promoting Kodava culture and heritage through academic research, alongside a distinguished performing career spanning nearly three decades.

Shilpa Nanjappa

She was awarded the prestigious two-year Fellowship for Cultural Resources and Training (CCRT) for 2019-2021. Her topic was 'Adaptation of Kodava language/literary compositions into the classical format and Bharatanatyam'.

Shilpa Nanjappa is the daughter of Allaranda Uthappa and Kaveriamma couple. She is married to Mukkatira Pavan Nanjappa.

Stamp of approval for Kodava culture

Born in Bengaluru and at present settled in Kodagu after her marriage, Shilpa Nanjappa is also an 'A' grade artiste of Doordarshan. Speaking to Star of Mysore, Shilpa said that being nominated itself was a significant honour because nominations come from senior members of the fraternity.

"When members of the dance community hold me in such high regard, that recognition alone feels significant. For the first time in my life, an award is not about me; it is about the work, the community and a stamp of approval for Kodava culture and heritage," she said.

"I have dedicated more than a decade to propagating and preserving this tradition. I hope this recognition helps the Kodava language reach places it has never reached before. This award is a huge acknowledgement for micro-culture representation in larger cultural spaces and is integral to the survival of micro-cultures," she said.

WORD OF THE DAY

Tenuous

Pronunciation: TEN-yoo-us (adjective).
Meaning: Something described as tenuous is flimsy, weak or uncertain.
Origin: Lean into the history of tenuous and you'll find that the word comes to English from the Latin adjective tenuis, meaning "fine-drawn, thin, narrow, or slight," and is a relative of thin. Like that more familiar word, tenuous has a wide array of meanings: it can describe a literal thinness, as in "a silkworm's tenuous threads," or rarity (the opposite of density), as in "a tenuous fluid," or it can describe things that are figuratively thin or flimsy. If one team in a game has a tenuous lead, either team still has a chance at winning. If there is only a tenuous connection between two events, those events are likely unrelated.
Example: "While more non-screen-based interactive technology could be an antidote to our screen-obsessed society, it's an extremely tenuous link to more human interaction ..." —Jennifer Pattinson Tuohy, The Verge, 4 May 2026

THE ODD WORD

Tabacosis

Tobacco poisoning.

AIISH-Bogadi Road Junction

Greenpeace submits people-led street design plan 'Samavesha'

Representatives of Greenpeace India submitting people-led street design plan 'Samavesha' to C.S. Manjunath, Deputy Commissioner (Development), Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), on June 4.

Mysuru, June 16- Greenpeace India representatives have come out with a people-led street design plan named 'Samavesha' pertaining to redevelopment works of AIISH-Bogadi Road Junction in the city.

On June 4, this report was submitted to three key officials of the city — C.S. Manjunath, Deputy Commissioner (Development), Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), Pradeep, writer at the ACP (Traffic) Office, Shivarampet and Mahadevaswamy, Assistant Executive Engineer (AEE) at Public Works Department (PWD) — overseeing the AIISH-Bogadi junction redevelopment works.

The report, prepared between October 2025 and March 2026 through months of citizen and stakeholder engagement — accessibility audits, community workshops and visualisation exercises involving residents, persons with disabilities, parents, caregivers and students — calls for scientifically-designed traffic-calming measures, obstruction-free and continuous footpaths, ramps, tactile paving, empathy line markings, covered open drains and visually enhanced zebra crossings, centred around the needs of the most vulnerable pedestrians.

The Mysore School of Architecture, led by Dean Dr. H.S. Champa, was a key partner in shaping the design.

Deepak Srinivasan, public space practitioner from Greenpeace India, said: "We approached the MCC and PWD authorities with the street design report which was developed in collaboration with Mysore School of Architecture, as a follow up on the publicly released report in March. In March, the agencies had asked to wait until Bogadi Road development begins, but we are now keen that 'Samavesha' report recommendations will be adopted. This is an important opportunity to create a street that is safer, more accessible and disability-friendly for everyone."

"We hope the ongoing redevelopment incorporates key recommendations from 'Samavesha' report, which has been formally submitted to authorities concerned. As Mysuru grows, public infrastructure must be designed around the needs of people. We hope that this project can set a positive precedent for inclusive street design across city," he added.
